ENGLAND AND RUSSIA ARE ABOUT TO FIGHT

Baltic Fleet Fires on Inoffensive English Fishing Vessels.

A Number of Sailors Killed, and England is Excited
From One End to the Other.

IT MEANS APOLOGY AND REPARATION, OR WAR

Portsmouth, Eng., Oct. 24.—A strong fleet of British warships, including the Goodhope, Drake, Narcissus, Eclipse, Powerful, Cumberland, King Alfred, Europe, Spartiate, Canopus and Imperious, together with several torpedo destroyers are here ready to sail within a few hours' notice. There is great eagerness among the officers and crews for orders, but these orders have not yet arrived.

ENGLAND'S DEMANDS.
London, Oct. 24.—Lord Lansdowne, secretary of foreign affairs, has received news of the sinking of the British fishing fleet by Russians, at his country home. He will return to London this afternoon. The Russian ambassador now in Germany has started for London, and it is believed England's demands will not be formulated before tonight.

FISHING VESSELS INSPECTED.
Hull, Eng., Oct. 24.—Only one vessel arrived this morning from the fishing region of North Sea. She was not near the scene of attack. No news has been received of the Wren. It is now definitely reported she went down with all on board.
Crowds are examining the Mine and Moulmein, which arrived badly damaged by the Russian shots. Both present the appearance of having undergone heavy bombardment. The latest reports of the affair received, show that four Russian vessels were concerned. These fired a hundred shots at the British fishing vessels at the range of about a quarter of a mile.

STRONG NOTE SENT.
London, Oct. 24.—After a conference at the foreign office, Lord Lansdowne sent a strongly worded message to British Ambassador Scott, at St. Petersburg, for delivery to the Russian government. The foreign secretary is now in conference with Admiral Fisher, first lord of the admiralty.

FIRE BLANKS FIRST.
Hull, Eng., Oct. 24.—It is now stated by some of the witnesses of the firing on the British fishing fleet that the Russians fired some blank shots before the loaded shells were used.

MORE CONFIRMATION.
Washington, Oct. 24.—Official dispatches were received at the state department today from the American embassy at London, confirming the news of the accounts of the firing by the Russian Baltic squadron on the Hull fishermen.

RUSSIA MAKES EXPLANATION.
London, Oct. 24.—The Russian embassy has issued the following statement regarding the North Sea incident: "Admiral Rodzestvensky is undoubtedly not responsible for an order to fire, as he had gone ahead with the first section of the fleet. The fact probably is that the fleet did not see the lights of the fishing fleet and mistook the rocket fired from one of the trawlers for a hostile signal. The fact that the fleet steamed away after firing is probably due to the belief that no damage was done. We are compelled to await news from St. Petersburg before we can explain the matter fully. No news has yet arrived.

Hull, England, Oct. 24.—A fleet of fifty fishing boats owned in Hull has been fiercely attacked 200 miles at sea by the Russian Baltic squadron, which is on the way to the far east. Two fishing boats sunk, two men decapitated by solid shot, many sailors wounded, and great damage done to other boats, is the result of the Russian bombardment of the defenseless fishing smacks by the Russian iron-clads.

USED SEARCHLIGHT, THEN SHOT.
Official information is that shortly after midnight Friday the Russian squadron fell in with the fishing fleet in the North sea. The Russians turned searchlights on the British vessels for some time and then opened fire, striking the steam trawler Crane and decapitating Skipper Smith and Third Hand Loggott.

The steam trawlers Moulmein and Mino have arrived at Hull, seriously damaged by shots. The Mino has sixteen shot holes in her hull.

It is thought the Russians must have known the identity of the fishing boats on account of the use of the searchlights and investigation by torpedo boats.

A SKIPPER TELLS HIS STORY.
The news has created intense excitement at Hull. The skipper of the Moulmein, which arrived with her flag at half mast, says the trawlers were fishing about 220 miles northwest of Shurn Head at 1 o'clock on Sunday morning, when they sighted the warships sailing in line. In the glare of the searchlight, a torpedo boat was seen to approach, then steam away.
The fishermen were soon horrified to find themselves targets for Russian cannons. The bombardment lasted 20 minutes, during which shot flew thick and fast, tearing holes through the slight hulls and mowing down unprotected fishermen.

When the firing ceased, the battleships steamed southward and the trawlers sent up rockets for help. The Russians kept on south, leaving the fishing boats to aid each other as best they could. The representatives of the fishing fleet tonight started for London to consult with the authorities there.

From interviews with the trawler crews it appears that the admiral of the fishing fleet burned green flares to show that they were harmless fishermen, but the signals were ignored. Eighteen injured men are under treatment.
The trawler Wren is missing and it is feared that she was sunk. There is a rumor that the "great northern fishing fleet" was also chased by the Russians.

APOLOGY OR WAR.
London, Oct. 24.—Foreign Minister Lansdowne, and Beckendorff, the Russian ambassador, were both out of town and all the government offices in London were closed as usual on Sunday, therefore no official view could be gained of the firing by Russian war vessels upon the British fishing fleet in the North Sea.

HEARTLESSNESS OF RUSSIANS.
The worst feature of the story, as viewed here, is the heartlessness displayed by the Russian fleet in steaming away without taking the trouble to ascertain even whether their fire had inflicted any damage and without any effort to rescue victims.

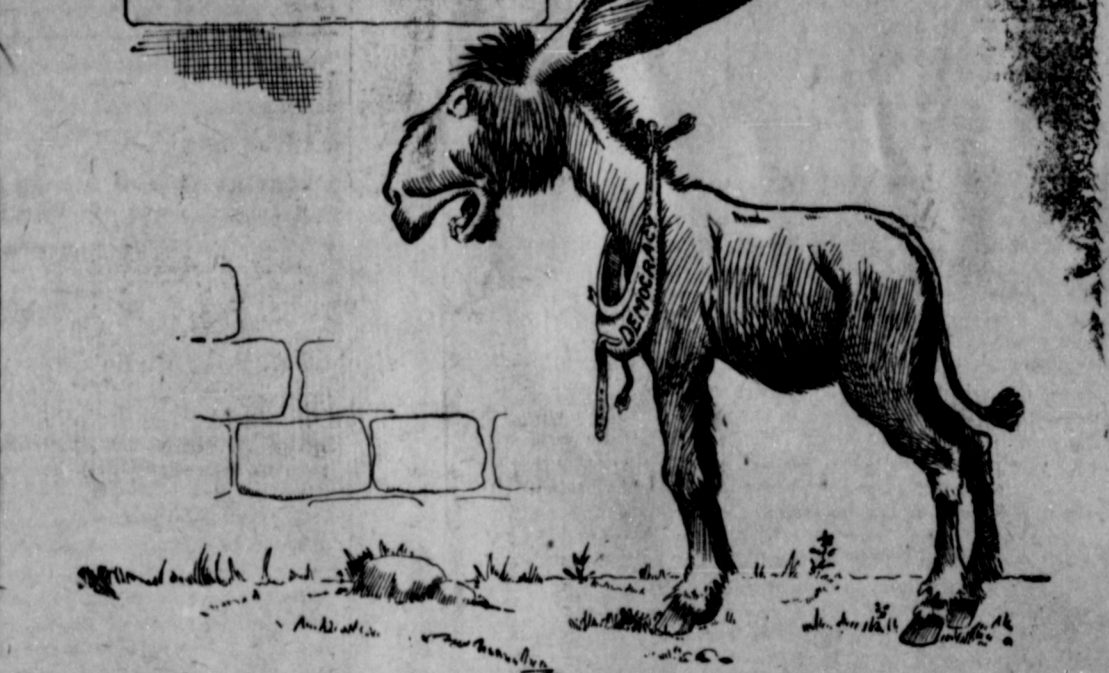

THE ONLY EXPLANATION POSSIBLE.
It is held that the omission of the Russian fleet to stay its course down the channel to offer any explanation makes the case look exceedingly grave; and the only possible solution of the mystery that has been suggested is that, excited by the rumors recently spread of Japanese intentions on the Pacific squadron in the event of its sailing, Russian gunners yielded to panic and supposed that the trawlers' rockets were signals of the enemy's fleet.

THE STANDARD'S DEMANDS.
The Standard says:
"An explanation should be promptly and sternly demanded for the intolerable outrage. The Russian government should be informed that it is expected to recall its ill-starred squadron, first, in order that proper investigation may be held, and second, to keep it out of harm's way for the future."

Sir Frederick Pollock, authority on international law, said:
"If the facts are as stated it is an act of war. It must mean an ultimatum or apology within 48 hours or so."

HELD A LONG CONFERENCE.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—Count Lamsdorff, minister of foreign affairs, and British Ambassador Scott, held a long conference this afternoon.

"THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY CAN ALWAYS BE RELIED ON TO MAKE A DAMN FOOL OF ITSELF AT THE CRITICAL TIME." SENATOR TILLMAN.

ALAS, TOO TRUE!

THE RUSSIAN ARMY TO ADVANCE SOON

Gen. Kuropatkin Gives Order to Take Offensive.

The Garrison at Port Arthur Has Plenty of Flour But No
Meat.

NO CHANGE IN SITUATION

St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—Gen. Kuropatkin reports this morning that matters at the front are comparatively quiet and says "Saturday night and Sunday passed quietly. Russian volunteers harassed the enemy. The Japanese attempted an attack on our outposts, but were repulsed."

An official dispatch today says that the armies are within rifle shot of each other. Gen. Kuropatkin, according to a dispatch, has issued an order for a renewal of the offensive.

BALTIC FLEET PASSES.
London, Oct. 24.—At noon today the Russian Baltic fleet passed Alderney, an island in the English channel off the coast of Norway.

SAME POSITIONS.
Mukden, Oct. 24.—While no pitched battle has occurred during the last few days, the two armies are kept in touch with one another and holding positions they occupied when the big battle ended. There is no evidence that the Russian army will rush north, as was the case after the battle of Liao Yang, as the Russians have another line of defense to fall back on in the event they are forced out of their present positions.

AMERICAN NOTE WINS.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—The high court of admiralty has reversed the Vladivostok prize court finding and ordered release of the British ship Allanton. Barrister Sheftall submitted a letter from the American embassy in London, showing that the court erred in holding that a passport or certificate of completion of military service was required from Japanese on arrival in America, and that, therefore, the conclusion was quite unwarranted that the absence of such a certificate in the case of the Japanese youth on board the Allanton, who avowed he was going to America, constituted a suspicious circumstance, or was calculated to arouse a suspicion that the ship was carrying contraband.

THE GARRISON STILL GAMES.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—A dispatch from Gen. Stoessel, in command of Port Arthur, gives details of the desperate situation there. He says the chief suffering among members garrisoned is due to the lack of warm clothing. The soldiers are manufacturing for themselves shoes of all kinds of material. There still are immense quantities of flour, but only a little horse meat. The garrison is determined to fight to the last man and last drop of blood.

NEARLY 1,000 PRISONERS.
Washington, Oct. 24.—The Japanese legation has received the following from Tokio regarding the battle of Shakhie: "Marshal Oyama says that further reports show the number of Russian prisoners to be 739 from the right army."

GATE TORN DOWN

First Accident to Automatic
Gates.

A Wagon Tore Down the I. C. Gate at Tennessee Street.

The first accident to the automatic gates which were lately installed by the I. C. and N. C. & St. L. roads, happened this morning at Tennessee street when a wagon caught one of the I. C. gates and broke it off near the base.
The gate is the forward gate, east, at the first crossing of the I. C. at Tennessee street coming from town, and the driver attempted to get across the tracks ahead of an approaching engine. The gate tender was dropping the gates at the time and the wagon got under the first and partially under the second, but not quite clear of the gate. The arm of the long gate caught against the back of the fast moving wagon and the timbers were snapped off at the base. The break will be repaired as soon as possible.

Milton Taylor, charged with horse stealing, who escaped from the Bardstown jail a year ago, has been captured in Peoria, Ill.

ONE IS SAFE.
Hull, Eng., Oct. 24.—The fishing vessel Wren is now reported to be safe.

GOOD PROMOTION

Mr. G. D. Elmore Takes Position at Louisville.

He Is Succeeded Here By J. W. Tyler, of Owensboro.

Mr. G. D. Elmore, general manager for the Standard Oil Co. here, has been deservedly promoted to the position of manager of the company's yards at Louisville, and will go there to assume charge of his new position next Sunday. Mr. Elmore has been in the employ of the company for 19 years and is one of the most reliable of its men. He came here from Lebanon, Ky., where he was manager of the Lebanon branch, and has been in Paducah over two years. During that time he has made many friends and is popular with them all. He will be succeeded here by Mr. J. W. Tyler, of Owensboro, who has been manager for the company at Owensboro.

Mr. Elmore's many friends here will regret to learn of his departure, but will be pleased to learn of his promotion.

NOTHING DONE

No Independent Ticket Put Out
Yesterday Afternoon.

Two attempts were made, one Saturday night, and one Sunday afternoon, to put out an independent ticket in Paducah, but both failed. There was a mere handful at each meeting, and it is said that sore-heads were mainly responsible for the effort, but met with disappointment and defeat, as the people in general are satisfied with the tickets already out.

Yesterday afternoon there were forty or fifty present, and "The Working Man's Civic League" was formed, with Louis Head, president; Harry Pixler, vice-president, and Peter Smith, secretary-treasurer.

A committee on resolutions was appointed as follows: L. P. Head, Pete Smith, Lon Crandall, Charles Hayman and Polly Pell.

A press committee was appointed, and it is expected to have another meeting Sunday to hear a report from the committee on resolutions.

It was decided not to put a ticket in the field this year, as today is the last day on which names could be placed on the ballot, and it was deemed too late.

It is stated that the organization will allow no socialism in any form or shape to creep into the new organization.

The small attendance at the meeting indicates how little interest there is in the move.

There is no communion with Christ where there is no sympathy with Him.

CAMPAIGN OVER FOR DEMOCRATS

The Bottom Has Fallen Out of It.

The Collapse of the Democratic Claims Came Earlier Than Expected.

WAS A RIDICULOUS END

New York, Oct. 24.—The complete breakdown of the democratic national campaign almost three weeks in advance of the election has caused much surprise among practical politicians. There is no attempt to conceal the fact that the campaign has gone to pieces, and that overwhelming defeat of Parker is conceded by many of his friends. The democratic national headquarters is a grove of gloom. The hired men there are packing their personal belongings and going home, angry and disgusted. They expected to draw salaries until election day, and they can not understand why the bluff is not kept up to the end.

No man at what remains of the Parker national headquarters will give out any estimates whatever of the electoral vote. Every man there who talks at all admits frankly that Parker has no chance of election. Most of the democratic congressmen who have been making speeches for the national committee have thrown up their jobs and hurried home to try and save their own districts. The men who were employed in the various bureaus are going home. By the end of the week, at the present rate of exodus, the headquarters will be practically deserted and the campaign come to a ridiculous end.

The Sun, in summarizing the reports of its correspondents on the political conditions in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, West Virginia and Wisconsin, which at the opening of the presidential campaign were regarded by both parties as doubtful, says:

Twenty days before election these states can be placed in the republican column for Roosevelt and Fairbanks without hesitation, or the slightest apprehension that the statement may have to be revised. In Connecticut and West Virginia the democrats may pull their state ticket through; in Wisconsin and West Virginia they may gain a congressman or two. The republican pluralities on the electoral ticket are reasonably sure to be substantial in all the four states, probably as large as those received by McKinley and Roosevelt in 1900. The democratic presidential ticket has steadily lost ground since Judge Parker read his disappointing speech from the Esopus veranda. All the hopes raised by his sensational gold telegram were then dashed, and consternation seized his party when it was seen that his chosen associates in the conduct of the campaign were August Belmont, whose name is a red rag to the Bryan element of the party; David B. Hill, to whom the candidate owed all his judicial honors and emoluments, and whose very name is a rank offense to Cleveland democrats; and P. H. McCarren, a machine politician of race-track reputation. The choice of Thomas Taggart for national chairman, whose only claim to consideration was his skill in manipulating the floating vote of Indiana, had already filled observant democrats with dismay. Taggart showed such incompetence for the undertaking that at first August Belmont, and then Senator Gorman of Maryland, were drafted to hold up his hands and keep him in countenance.

The nomination of the octogenarian, Henry G. Davis, who had been politically dead for twenty years, was regarded even by partisans, and particularly by friends of the leading candidate, as an inexcusable and grievous blunder. To cap the climax of untoward conditions, Judge Parker refused to take the stump and wage the aggressive campaign which, in the judgment of democratic leaders in all parts of the country, the emergency demanded. Thus there was nothing for the national committee to do but enter a still-hunt campaign, the effect of which may be seen in the betting odds of 4 to 1 that Roosevelt and Fairbanks will be elected. The people are marking time until they can march to the polling places and duly record their faith in the policies of the republican party, which assures them abiding prosperity.

Many a corporation has been sunk by its floating debt.

PRESIDENT FISH PASSED THROUGH

His Special Made Good Time
Over the Division.

The Regular Annual Inspection Began Out of Chicago
Today.

OTHER LATE RAILROAD NEWS

Mr. Stuyvesant Fish, president of the I. C. railroad, Mr. M. Beech, of Philadelphia, a prominent capitalist and director of the road, and Mr. H. McCourt, assistant general manager of southern lines of the I. C., passed through Paducah yesterday afternoon at 12:31 o'clock en route to Philadelphia from the south.

Mr. Fish has been touring the road with several directors and officials and Mr. W. J. Harahan, general manager of the road and his father, J. T. Harahan, vice-president, were dropped off south of Paducah and went home to Chicago. Mr. McCourt will leave the party at Louisville, but Pres. Fish and Mr. Beech will go to Philadelphia.

This concluded the hasty inspection by the directors and president of the road, but the annual inspection of the road by superintendents, roadmasters and division officers, started out of Chicago this morning.

Mr. A. H. Egan, superintendent of the Louisville division of the road, is in the party and also is Mr. F. L. Thompson, of the Louisville division of the road. The party will be ten days out on the trip and will work to St. Louis first, then taking south. It is not known when the train will reach Paducah but is expected the latter part of this week, or the first of next.

Mr. Fish and party made good time with their special train yesterday.

Word was received ahead that he would arrive at 12:31 at the depot. He arrived "on the dot" and left five minutes later.

The division was cleared of all freight trains to enable the passenger train to make a clean run without any delays. On the way to Louisville the train passed dozens of freight trains on the sidings and the officials got some idea of the business done on this division, particularly in the Paducah district.

Yesterday afternoon engine No. 2 jumped the track in the south yards just after passenger train No. 121 passed at 5 o'clock, the passenger running late, but traffic was delayed but a short time.

The engine jumped the rails because of a defective frog and it required some little time to set her on the rails again. She was but slightly damaged.

Mr. T. M. Baughan, master car builder of the local I. C. shops, has returned from Louisville, where he had been on business.

Mr. J. F. Bailey, who has been ill for some time, is expected home today from Graves county. He is employed as night watchman in the local I. C. south yards.

Mr. Harry Judd, the I. C. pattern-maker, is out again after a brief illness.

The United States citizenship court at Ardmore, I. T., denied the application of Glenn Tucker and other citizens of the Choctaw nation. The case involved the right of some 600 alleged Indians to citizenship.

Sections of Michigan were visited by a blizzard.

I suffered with a very distressing weakness of the kidneys which annoyed me day and night. There was often a dull pain across my back over the kidneys. It was these complaints which induced me to get Doan's Kidney Pills at DuBois, Kolb & Co's. drug store. After taking the treatment for a short time I noticed a great change in my condition and the improvement continued steadily. I feel better than I have felt for a long time. Doan's Kidney Pills are an excellent remedy and it is a pleasure for me to recommend them."

PAUL SCHMIDT STARTS BACK HOME

Connecticut Officers Arrived
Last Evening.

The Youth Was Turned Over to Them and the Start Was Made Today.

HE EXPECTS LIGHT SENTENCE

Paul Herbert Schmidt, the 18-year-old German who has been here in the county jail pending the arrival of Connecticut officers to take him back to that state to stand trial for the murder of Wm. Taylor, near Sherman, Conn., on August 22, 1904, was taken from Paducah at noon today by H. C. Allen, deputy sheriff of Fairfield county, Connecticut, and Officer Edward Cronan, of Bridgeport, Conn., the county seat of Fairfield.

The two Connecticut officers arrived last night at 6 o'clock from Sherman and came via Frankfort, where they secured requisition papers for the return of the prisoner to their state.

This morning Schmidt was brought into police court and recognized by Judge Sanders in the sum of $300 for his appearance before the grand jury at the December term of court, and after this merely formal step was taken, Schmidt and the officers went upstairs to the circuit court room, and Judge Reed held a brief trial to fully establish the identity of Schmidt, and then turned him over to the officers who had come for him.

Schmidt in police court did not seem to understand what was going to be done to him, and when Judge Sanders recognized him, appeared to be bewildered. He knew he was going to be taken away to stand trial for a greater crime than merely the theft of a pistol, a star, and a few dollars, and couldn't understand why he should be made to return to Paducah in December. He sat silently and occasionally would express emotion, but never flinched.

When asked any question he would answer briefly but civilly, and nearly every one who has looked at Schmidt believes that he is not guilty of a murder, although he admits killing Taylor, saying that he was forced to.

Officer Cronan knows Wm. Crittenden, who is a manufacturer of bitters, cordials, wines and beverages in New York, and while not wealthy, has plenty of money, and says that Crittenden did not know either men when he employed them.

Taylor, the murdered man, lived on Long Island, and was about 50 years old. Deputy Sheriff Allen says that Schmidt will be taken to Bridgeport, the county seat, and jailed.

Schmidt thinks he will get a short term, but the officers say it means the electric chair for him. Schmidt stated that he thought he deserved about a five-year term. The officers say he is a hardened criminal whose parents long since gave up hope of reforming him. The parents of the youth live in a valuable house, which they own. The father is a cabinet maker and being thrifty, saved quite a small fortune.

Detective McCabe, of the Pinkerton Agency, will leave tonight for Chicago on business. He has been here since the identity of Schmidt was established, to await the arrival of the officers to take Schmidt back.

SEVERAL DOCTORS

WILL GO TO MAYFIELD TO THE
MEDICAL ASSOCIATION MEETING.

Tomorrow the thirty-third semi-annual meeting of the Southwestern Kentucky Medical Association will be held at Mayfield and several Paducah doctors will be in attendance.

Drs. H. P. Sights, Horace Rivers, H. M. Childress and P. H. Stewart have expressed their intention of going and there are many others who desire to go but will not know until tomorrow whether or not they can.

The meeting lasts one day and some very interesting papers have been prepared. Drs. Sights, Childress and Rivers are on the programme.

NO MEETING TONIGHT.

The Elks Building Committee will not meet tonight, as intended, as there is no business to come up. The meeting has instead been set forward a week, or until next Monday night.

K. OF P. NOTICE.

All members of Paducah lodge Knights of Pythias are urgently requested to be present at our meeting Monday night. Work in the third rank.

"There is one engine on this division," said an I. C. engineer this morning, "that has given us a great deal of trouble, but we have at last got her to going nicely on the east end. This is engine No. 203. First she sprained her axles and next her frame became defective and again we had to put her in a shop stall. After this was remedied we found that she sat a little to one side on her springs and this had to be remedied again. Each time she was taken out for a passenger run, something was found the matter with her, but now we have her thoroughly repaired and in the few days she has been running, no engine has given better service."

It became known among the traveling salesmen that the 203 was defective and whenever she was hooked to their train they would always prepare to get in late, and they rarely ever missed their guess.

Acting Patrol Driver Dave Cassell, formerly night watchman at the local I. C. freight house at Sixth and Campbell streets, has given away his faithful little watchdog, "I. C." because he had no further use for the dog, and realizing in her an excellent watch dog, gave her to his friend, Mr. George Bauer, who resides near the Bauer pottery at Seventh and Trimble streets, who needed a watch dog.

"I. C." is a full blooded Scotch terrier but was born in China and brought to this country by a Chinaman employed at the laundry on Lower Broadway. Cassell got the dog when only three months old, and began training her for a watch dog. She showed great intelligence and when full grown, seemed to understand her responsibility and no one could get within half a block of the depot but what she would hear or see them and set up such a barking until Cassell came and remedied the trouble.

Another very intelligent action of the little canine was noticed when she was given to Mr. Bauer. She ran away once and came to Cassell but he took her under his arm and returned her to Bauer. The little animal, although very fond of her old master, seemed to understand that it was his wish that she remain at Mr. Bauer's and has since done so.

Mr. Bauer says she watches the house better than a human being could and he would not part with her for any sum.

Two painters were industriously putting putty on an engine tank at the local I. C. shops as a reporter passed.

"How long does it take to finish painting that tank," the reporter asked.

"O, about three or four days, it requires careful work, but when we get her finished you can say it has been really painted," the painters declared. "You have no idea what it costs to paint one of these," the painters continued. "Why, we first scrape off the dirt and rust, then give the iron a good sandpapering. Next we put in putty, which we are doing now, to fill up the niches and cracks, and when this is done we give the tank a thin coat of solid black, of the finest quality paint procurable. After this has dried we put on another coat and then add two coats of the finest transparent varnish. This requires several days and taking the costs of labor, the quality of paint, and we can paint an ordinary house with but little more cost and in about the same time as it takes us to finish an engine tank."

It will give one an idea of the cost to repair and overhaul an engine, when the painting of the tank costs almost as much as to paint a whole house.

A motorman on the depot line ran a night or two ago had a bad scare, the result of a joke played on him by friends.

The motorman has a sweetheart on his run and he would often stop his car, when he was running ahead of time, (and he ran ahead of time at every opportunity) to get a drink of water at the young lady's house.

Now it seems he has a rival who had also been worshipping at the same shrine for sometime, and this rival was very much jealous of the motorman. Friends of the motorman warned him of the rival's attentions and incidentally remarked threats of shooting had been heard. The motorman was informed of the bad reputation for shooting his rival had, and was thoroughly scared up. On the night in question friends told him that the rival intended shooting him, and that he had better watch out.

When his car turned a curve and approached the residence of his sweetheart, several loud reports in pretty quick succession were heard, and immediately the young man turned on the "jokes" and ran by several waiting passengers at the next corner. He thought he had been shot at, but the explosions were from several railroad torpedoes placed on the track by the friends who perpetrated the joke.

ELLERY'S BAND WILL PLAY A PADUCAH COMPOSITION TONIGHT.

Tonight the Ellery-Royal Italian Band at The Kentucky Theater will play as an encore number Prof. William Deal's march named for The Daily Sun, and dedicated to Mr. Edwin J. Paxton, manager of the paper.

Mr. Deal has played his march several times in the theater as an orchestral number and has received many compliments on it. He has never had the opportunity to hear his march played by a big band where the advantage of a full instrumentation can be had, and Mr. Ellery's offer to play it is duly appreciated by Prof. Deal. The march is a very pretty one and at the concert tonight The Sun will present, as souvenirs of the concert, piano copies of the march.

THE SHOP MEN HAVE ORGANIZED AGAIN

Have a Fire Department of Their Own.

They Have Established a Regular Code of Whistle Signals.

ORGANIZATION HAS THIRTY

The fire department at the local Illinois Central shops has been reorganized and will begin practice this week. Organization was completed Saturday and there are about thirty men in the entire department. A code of whistle signals from the boiler room whistle has been arranged and will sound an alarm indicating where the fire is, in what portion of the several shops.

The code is as follows: One whistle in the freight and car shops; two in the planing mill and coach shops; three in the power house; four in the machine shops; five in the blacksmith and boiler shops; six in the round house; seven, offices and storeroom; eight, oil house; nine, tin and pipe shops; and ten in the Huntington Row, which is owned by the Illinois Central and the houses occupied by employees of the shops.

Last spring new hose was received and the fighting facilities are being improved. The fire department had been maintained since the big fire several years ago which destroyed the planing mill, but of late not much attention had been paid to it.

HORSE SHOCKED

Struck a Live Wire and Was Knocked Out.

Little Damage Done and the Horse Was Not Killed.

A Palmer Transfer Company cab horse was badly shocked by a live wire at Fifth and Broadway yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock, but fortunately got away from the wire before it was badly hurt.

The horse was one of a team being driven south from the Palmer House, and the driver did not see a small auxiliary wire which had broken and fallen against the trolley wire. The horse stepped on the wire and immediately there was fire flashing in several directions, the wire beginning to burn where it lay across the tracks and also under the horse's hoofs. The horse was knocked to the ground but kicked the wire away in falling.

Street car motormen knocked the wire off the tracks and cut it down. Car traffic was delayed a few minutes and quite a crowd collected about the corner after the accident.

PASSED THROUGH YESTERDAY.

Mr. Leslie La Neive, of the Hollingshead stove plant at Rives, Tenn., was in the city yesterday en route east on business and pleasure combined. He went to Louisville last night and from there will go to Indianapolis and other Indiana cities. He will return in a few days. Mr. La Neive was formerly employed in the yard department of the local Illinois Central and later with the Hiram Blow Stove Company here.

Theatrical Notes.

Two small audiences attended the concert given by Ellery's Royal Italian Band at The Kentucky Saturday afternoon and night. Those who did attend seemed to be highly pleased—delighted—and these concerts have further proven that whatever may be the controversies in regard to the relative standing of this among similar big organizations of the world it is, if not the best, certainly one of the greatest. Every number was enthusiastically encored, and the responses were all favorite and charming numbers. The soloists are unusually fine, Sig. Decimo, the clarinetist, is a sensational, wistful extremely artistic performer. The program included such classes of music as appeal to all persons, and, dead in soul, indeed, would be he who could not have heard at least one number to repay him for his attendance. From a technical standpoint it can be said that the band showed execution, tone, fine shadings and volume in remarkable degree. The interpretation of Sig. Ferullo were original and brilliant effects and really grand climaxes were attained. The opportunity to hear such a band comes but few times in the lifetime of dwellers in provincial cities and one should not miss these concerts.

Mr. Ellery was here two years ago in charge of Creator's Band, and many of the men with him now were with him then. It is indeed humiliating to those people of Paducah who take a pride in the culture of their home to see what small crowds attended the magnificent concert Saturday. A band of this kind seldom comes to a small town, and it is remarkable that Sousa's Band, in some respects not so good a band as this Ellery Band, packed The Kentucky from pit to dome, and this one played to a handful of people. It would indicate that it was the name that brought the people out, and not their appreciation of good music.

SIGNOR BUZZI
Who will sing tonight.

Those who desire to enjoy soul-stirring melody should come out tonight. Mr. Ellery announced Saturday that he would play no more small towns, after this season, as he found it did not pay.

His director, Francesco Ferullo, is a young man, but seems to be a true musician, and to feel the music interpreted by his hand. He is going to be a second Creator, if indications count for aught. Here is the program for tonight:

PART I.

"Wedding March"—Mendelssohn.
"Il Trovatore," Grand Selection—Verdi.
Solos by Signor Palma, Di Natale, Rosano.

Trumpet Solo, "Inflammatus"—Rosano.
Sigs. De Mitris.

"Tannhauser" Overture—Wagner.

PART II.

"Lucia di Lammermoor," Sextet—Donizetti. Signori DeMirtis, Plantamura, Di Natale, Rosano, Basile and Mancini.

"Romanza for Tenor"—Selected—Sig. Buzzi.

Valse Leonte, "Amoureux"—Bergor.

"Mefistofele," Grand Fantasia—Boito Prelude—Garden Scene, Dance of Elves. Classical Sabbath, Death of Marguerite. Triumphant Chorus of Angels. Solos by Signori De Mitris, Plantamura, Di Natale.

Speaking of stage contortions, the base drummer with Ellery's Band is an artist. He makes as many grotesque motions as the director, and a more artistic pounder of the big drum is probably not to be found anywhere. He puts on more different kinds of frills than you could find at a dry goods store.

Last Sunday's New York Telegraph contains a fetching picture of Mrs. Emmalyn Prewitt Lockey as "Paola, a Soldier of Fortune" in King Dodo, which is having a metropolitan revival. Mrs. Lockey has relatives and many friends in and about Princeton, Ky., her old home. She is achieving a fine success on the stage. Last season she had a leading part in Lulu Glazer's "Dolly Varden."

Miss Blanche Buckner, it is reported in the papers, rejoins the "Isle of Spice" company at the Majestic Theater, in New York, this week, after a vacation of several weeks, which she spent with friends at their cottage on the Massachusetts coast.

The entire original production, cast, chorus and auxiliaries of the newest and most successful comic opera "The Forbidden Land" is announced to be given at The Kentucky on Wednesday, October 26. This production is said to be one of the most pretentious of the season and comes endorsed as an attraction of more than usual interest for it not only possesses the novelty of being the only opera ever written in which the life, habits, rites and amusements of the Tibetans have been faithfully and vividly portrayed.

That the Ellery Band has stirred up the music-loving people of Paducah is being clearly demonstrated at the box office today, as there has been a steady sale of seats all day, and a large audience is assured. The band gave two concerts here Saturday which were well attended and highly appreciated. Tonight Signor Buzzi will render several of his celebrated solos.

Among other numbers to be given tonight are "Mendelssohn's Wedding March," "Il Trovatore," "Mefistofele," "Grand Fantasia," and numerous other selections, which consist of many popular and familiar airs.

To see Ferullo direct this wonderful assemblage of artists, is well worth the price of admission. Everybody should turn out tonight and hear this band as it will do you good, and you will never regret the time spent.

Of all the plays that have been given to the stage by dramatist Hal Reid, none possess the power of appealing to the emotions in so high a degree as does "At Cripple Creek," which promises to duplicate its success of last season. The locality affords splendid dramatic and scenic possibilities, and that Mr. Reid took full advantage of these was evidenced by the reception of his play. Interest of the most absorbing nature centers in the four acts of "At Cripple Creek." The first act shows the interior of Martin Mason's den, known as "The Temple of David." The second shows the exterior of Joe Mayfield's cabin at Rift Canyon; the third shows the depths of the "Last Dollar" mine and the last act occurs in Joe Mayfield's new home upon the day of his marriage to Belle Gordon.

Martin Mason, the leader of a desperate gang of outlaws, furnishes the villainy of the piece. Among his schemes is the juring of innocent girls to his infamous den. He also attempts to wrest from Joe Mayfield the "Last Dollar" claim, but Mason is thwarted in this plot by "Dynamite Ann," one of his former victims, who is aided by Joe Mayfield and the Indian, Waketah. Mason's attempt, aided by a Mexican "bad man," Manuel Alvarez, to kill Little Tatto in the second act; the death trap in the third act and the denouement of the last act furnishes some of the most striking incidents of the play. A car load of special scenery is carried for the production of this fine drama and it is acted by one of the strongest casts ever employed in melodrama and is presented under the personal direction of Whitaker and Nash. The comedy element has not been neglected in "At Cripple Creek" and spectators of it will be treated to a graphic and true-to-nature glimpse of life in the mining region of Colorado during

The Cairo papers say that H. Walenstein, the drummer who passed several worthless checks in Paducah last week, passed two there, one $100 check at the Halliday House and a $50 check on Mrs. O. H. Late reports indicate that he has been at the game for several days past and has doubtless made a good haul.

THE WEATHER.

RAILROAD MEN FOR ROOSEVELT.

It is said that the railroad employees of the country are supporting Theodore Roosevelt almost to a man. It would indeed be astonishing if such were not the case. The president is himself a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, and as such is looked upon as a fellow railroad man of that most intelligent brotherhood. The president has appointed Frank P. Sargent as commissioner general of the bureau of immigration, and Edwin C. Madden as third postmaster general, both being members of the Locomotive Brotherhood of Firemen. It will be remembered that he selected E. C. Clark, head of the Order of Conductors, for a place on the great anthracite coal strike commission, and it is said that Mr. Clark is slated for still greater honors in the near future. By these appointments and by his daily acts when traveling upon any railroad and by his utterances when governor of New York state and since and up to the present time Mr. Roosevelt has shown himself to be the friend of the railroad man as he is the friend of every workingman in the country. But there are other reasons why the railroad men should support Theodore Roosevelt and the republican candidate for congress in his district. Under the administration of McKinley and Roosevelt and the operation of the Dingley tariff over 500,000 men have found employment on the railroads of the United States who were not so employed in 1896. These men are now receiving over $400,000,000 more in wages than was the case in 1896. That is what republicanism and protection has done for the railroad employee. What it has done for the shareholder is even more marked, if possible, because the contrast between 1896 and 1904 is so much greater. There are few, if any, railroads today under receiverships and none being sold under foreclosure, while in 1896 the amount of such receiverships and foreclosures in stocks and bonds amounted to over two billions of dollars. The dividends today being paid to the stockholders of our railroads amount to over $200,000,000 annually against only about seventy or eighty millions in 1896. This shows what the republican party has done for the half million of people in our country who own our railroads, and the prosperity of the shareholders must be reflected in the prosperity of the officials and employees. They are interdependent, and each and all must share in the wish that Theodore Roosevelt be elected to succeed himself, and that there be no cessation in the great prosperity of our country so fully reflected in the transportation interests.

Mayor Yeiser, as an argument against the city paying for storm water sewerage, claims that the bond ordinance stipulates that the bond money is for reconstructing the streets with "brick, asphalt, etc." If the mayor can explain to anybody how the streets can be reconstructed with anything without drainage, and how drainage can be secured without storm water pipes, which are not "sewers" in the proper sense of the word, he will be forgiven for allowing the city to pay for storm water sewers built in front of his own property.

The democratic campaign has collapsed, and there is no hope for them carrying anything that they are not used to carrying. It fell through earlier than expected. Of course there are a few of the newspapers that are so slow they will keep up the benevolent bluff until the last day, but the intelligent democratic press—if there is any—and the independent press that has been supporting Parker, have already given it up.

GOVERNOR WRIGHT

TAKES THE WIND OUT OF SAILS OF DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Governor Luke Wright of the Philippines, at the request of Secretary of War Taft, has sent a cable denial to the speech of Alton B. Parker, in which the Democratic candidate for president averred that the Philippines were in a state of terror, ruin, starvation, sickness, corruption, debt and tyrannical oppression.

Governor Wright, who is a Democrat, appointed from Tennessee, denies the charges at length and in full, ending his dispatch with this sentence:

"Judge Parker has evidently been grossly deceived."

Y. M. C. A. PREACHING SOON

In speaking of the election of a bishop for the Kentucky Diocese, the Courier-Journal says: "In addition to the names of Dr. Frank DuMoulin, Chicago; the Rev. Dr. W. T. Manning, New York; the Rev. Dr. J. N. McCormick, Grand Rapids, and the Rev. Dr. O. E. Woodcock, Detroit, it is announced that the names of the Rev. James S. Stone, Chicago; Dr. Carl Grammer, Norfolk, Va., together with several others, are also before the committee, with good chances of election."

The Kentucky Synod meets at 7:30 p. m., tomorrow at the Cumberland Presbyterian church at Sixth and Kentucky Avenue, and a large delegation is expected.

The program for the first evening is as follows:
7:30—Opening sermon by Rev. J. L. Wyatt, retiring moderator.
Organization, roll call, election of moderator.

Rev. J. Howard Carpenter preached yesterday morning at the First Baptist church to a large congregation, and it was a literary treat to hear him. He has lost none of his old time fervor and brilliancy, and it was one of the best sermons ever heard in the church. Rev. Carpenter is now in the insurance business at Augusta, Ga., but has charge of four churches in that neighborhood, two of them being quite large. He left yesterday afternoon for St. Louis to visit the exposition, after which he will return home.

Next Sunday and Sunday week will be Y. M. C. A. Sundays here. All of the ministers of the ministerial association of the city will be asked to preach sermons in their churches next Sunday morning in the interest of the Y. M. C. A. On the following Sunday, in the afternoon and evening, union meetings will be held at the First Christian church, addressed by some Y. M. C. A. speakers from a distance.

Senior Epworth League of the Broadway Methodist church will celebrate the day, also, by a "Men's Meeting" at their regular service next Sunday at 4:30 p. m. This is not a meeting for "men only" but only men will be on the program. There will be some interesting speakers and it will be a noteworthy occasion.

Rev. W. H. Pinkerton preached yesterday to large crowds. Mr. Pinkerton has just returned from attending the "International Conference of the missionary Christian Church" held in St. Louis, which was a great occasion, and his sermons yesterday were "Humanity's Fears and Destiny" and "The World's Fair, What Can a Man Get Out of It?"

Mr. Pinkerton will preach his last sermon at the First Christian church next Sunday, his resignation as its pastor taking effect on November 1st. It will be difficult for the church here to fill his place, he is so universally beloved.

A revival service began yesterday at the Third Street Methodist church. The pastor, Rev. W. B. Hamilton, will be assisted by Rev. W. W. Armstrong, of the Trumble Street Methodist church.

There were four additions by letter to the Broadway Methodist church at the service last night.

Bishop McClosky, of Louisville, will be here next Sunday and at 7 a. m. will administer the rites of confirmation to a class at the St. Francis De Sales Catholic church. In the afternoon he will be at the St. John's Catholic church.

Rev. W. H. Robinson preached his farewell sermon at the Second Baptist church yesterday, speaking in the morning on "Our Handful" and at

The warrant against Warren Baker, white, charged with the theft of a skiff six years ago was filed away.

Justice Jesse Young this morning called his docket and set cases.

No cases were tried and nothing was done other than the mere calling of the docket. Justice Young has a light docket this term and the cases are unimportant.

INHERITED SCROFULA

When a child I had a very severe attack of Diphtheria, which came near proving fatal. Upon recovery the glands of the neck were very much enlarged, and after the free use of iodine, the right one was reduced to its normal size, but the left one continued to grow—very slowly at first, until it was about the size of a goose egg, which began to press on the windpipe, causing difficult breathing, and became very painful. An incision was made and a large quantity of pus discharged. The gland was removed, or as much as could with safety be taken out. For ten years I wore a little piece of cloth about an inch long in my neck to keep the place open. During this time I had to have it cut open by the doctor every time I took cold or the opening clogged. In the Spring of early Summer of 1884 I was persuaded by my wife to use S. S. S., which I did, strictly in accordance with directions. I took twenty-six large bottles, and was entirely cured, for I have not suffered since that time.

CORRECTED DAILY

TO ELECT A BISHOP

A SPECIAL SESSION CALLED FOR NOVEMBER 16.

A second special session of the seventy-sixth council of the Episcopal diocese of Kentucky will be held Wednesday, November 16, at St. Paul's Church, Louisville, for the selection of a bishop to succeed the late Bishop Thomas Underwood Dudley. It is considered probable, although by no means certain, that a Louisville man will be chosen for the position, and among others, the Rev. John K. Mason is prominently mentioned for election. Dr. Mason is highly esteemed in the community, and is very popular among the clergy.

The Rev. Dr. Murray and the Rev. Dr. Lloyd, who were previously elected to the position, both declined.

WATSON SCORNS HIM.

Shows Contempt For Parker In His Letter of Acceptance. Dodges Race Issues.

Candidate Describes Hill's Man as Lacking in Manhood and the Qualities of Leadership.

In his letter of acceptance, issued last week, Thomas E. Watson, the Populist candidate for president, says in part:

"Much abuse has been heaped upon me because more time was devoted by me to denunciation of Parker than of Roosevelt. The reason is obvious enough. Roosevelt is a straight cut Republican, who declares boldly for Republican principles, defiantly defending existing conditions. To attack him is a short, easy job. He is so conspicuous and stationary a target that no one who wished to take a shot at him could possibly miss the mark."

"He is not in a bush; he is behind no 'blind'; he stands out in the open, and he says to his enemies: 'Here I am—a Republican who stands pat on all existing conditions; if you want a fight, come on! Now, I can understand a Republican like that, and while I would love to make my battleax ring on his helmet until one of us went down in political defeat and death, yet I could respect him all the while as a foeman worthy of any man's steel. Mr. Roosevelt will get Republican votes and no others. He is not seeking the support of Bryan Democrats upon false pretenses. He is not playing a confidence game on the negro question. He is not attempting to win Jeffersonians by a sham adherence to Jeffersonian principles. In short, there is no danger that Jeffersonian Democrats will vote for Roosevelt upon the assumption that he is a Jeffersonian Democrat. There is no danger that Roosevelt will get a single vote to which I, as a Jeffersonian in principle, am entitled."

Parker Lacks Leadership.
"With Mr. Parker it is different. He is not a Jeffersonian Democrat, yet he seeks to secure the support of Jeffersonians. If he would speak out plainly and tell the people that he is in principle the same thing practically that Roosevelt is the Bryan Democrats would fall away from him by the million. I would then be enabled to organize such a party of revolt against the Republican rule as would sweep the country."

"His attitude is thoroughly disingenuous, profoundly lacking in true manhood and leadership. He was willing to stand upon the New York state platform which Mr. Bryan denounced as a dishonest platform. His position was so indefinite, so foxy, so entirely neutral, that Mr. Bryan declared to cheering thousands that Parker was 'absolutely unfit for the Democratic nomination,' and that 'nobody but an artful dodger' could stand upon that New York platform, which so much resembled its father, David B. Hill. I believe it was also in the same speeches that Mr. Bryan declared that a man should be willing to die for his convictions, which is also a very sound proposition."

Forced Parker's Telegram.
"By a dictatorial tone, amounting to menace, Judge Parker was driven by the New York World into the sending of the telegram which told the Democratic convention for the first time, and many hours after Parker had secured the nomination, that the gold standard was 'irrevocably fixed.'"

"Neither then nor in any utterance afterward did he say that the gold standard was right until he had been shelled so vigorously by myself and others for having deserted the free silverites without saying they were wrong and having gone over to the gold standard without saying it was right. Even Judge Parker finally realized that the ground was caving under his feet and was literally driven to firmer footing. At last he has taken his place side by side with Roosevelt on the most deeply important issue before the people. . . ."

Favors Liberal Pensions.
"Roosevelt stands in the open and dares Parker defiantly, almost mockingly, and Parker meekly stays out of the fight. In his formal letter of acceptance he says that he takes up the glove thrown at his feet, declaring that he will revoke that pension order No. 78."

"But in the same breath he hastens to admit that Roosevelt did precisely what he (Parker) thinks ought to be done. If elected he (Parker) will at once ask congress to do what Roosevelt has already done. Heavens! What a meek warrior is this! 'Roosevelt did the right thing, but not in the right way, and if you will elect me president I will do the same thing in the proper way.' Did any nominee ever seek the presidency on that kind of platform before?"

Parker Dodges the Race Issues.
"When is he going to free those Philippines? He does not say. What is he going to do to the trusts? Will he deal drastically with the Standard Oil trust, which has coddled his political ambition for the last two years? What will he do to the sugar trust, which his campaign manager, Gorman, represents in the United States senate? On the negro question why has he been silent? Does he condemn Roosevelt for that Booker Washington lunch? Does he condemn the appointment of negroes to office? Why did he fail to make any reference whatever to that plank in the Republican platform which his running mate, Davis, says created a 'race issue'? The solid south is being kicked and cuffed into the support of Parker upon the ground that he differs from Roosevelt on the negro question. Before the south is dragged into voting for the New Yorker and against her own sons, her blood and sympathy and deathless devotion, ought not the New York or to be compelled to speak on this question? . . ."

"When Dave Hill, Pat McCarrren and August Belmont finished their work the Democratic bosses were so nearly nude that had it been a personal matter rather than political they could have been indicted for a 'notorious act of public indecency.' Able statesmen had undressed themselves in public. And now they are furiously angry with me because I am renewing the struggle which they abandoned. They resent the fact that some one else should try to do that which they were not willing to try to do."

Parker's Trust Advisers.
"They went to St. Louis with principles; they came back without them. They were clay in the hands of the Pat McCarrrens of Standard Oil, Belmont of the Louisville and Nashville and Gorman of the sugar trust. The very first speech of the campaign was made in Brooklyn by Senator Bailey of Texas under the auspices of the Standard Oil company lobbyist, Pat McCarrren. The chosen advisers of Mr. Parker are the men who led for the trusts and corporations when the taxpayers were looted during Cleveland's second administration. From Gorman, who reeks with the foulest trust legislation for twenty years, to Carlisle, who wrote the sugar schedule at the dictation of the sugar trust, and Belmont of the secret midnight bond deal down to Olney, who, in effect, advised the two willing Cleveland to lead the United States army to the Pullman Palace Car company in Chicago, the notorious old band of boodlers are there. . . ."

"Every line of the platform seems to be in a treble lest it should dispense the beneficiaries of class legislation. Every tone of its quaking voice seems to say to the corporations, 'Don't be afraid; I won't hurt you.' With the anxious fear of Snug, the joiner, in 'Midsummer Night's Dream,' the apparent lion kindly dissipates the fear of his audience by assuring them in advance that its roar is only for stage purposes."

SAVED HIS LIFE.

J. W. Davenport, Wingo, Ky., writes, June 14, 1902: "I want to tell you I believe Ballard's Snow Liniment saved my life. I was under the treatment of two doctors, and they told me one of my lungs was entirely gone, and the other badly affected. I also had a lump in my side. I don't think that I could have lived over two months longer. I was induced by a friend to try Ballard's Snow Liniment. The first application gave me great relief; two fifty-cent bottles cured me sound and well. It is wonderful medicine and I recommend it to suffering humanity." 25c, 50c, $1.00.

NEWS OF THE RIVERS.

The New Orleans Picayune says editorially: "There is every reason to believe that the river traffic can be brought back to the importance it once enjoyed, but it must be done by the construction and operation of highly improved boats. There is another item, too. That is the question of safety. Formerly, the risk of river transportation was considered vastly greater than that of railroads. The almost daily wrecks of railroad trains go far to modify the river risk, either for freight or passengers. All the conditions are favorable for the revival of steamboating and the Picayune would chronicle with pleasure an active and really effective beginning of it."

Commodore Rollingpin, of St. Louis, writing about Mark Twain says: "Mark never got to be much of a pilot himself, but he used to know all of them and write them up in the papers better than anybody ever could. He was about as green a looking creature as ever came from Pike county, when he was on the old Blue Bird, way back in the fifties, and to look at him you would have thought he wasn't worth sweeping up, but he could write then till you couldn't rest, and some of the funniest things that ever were printed about the river were gotten up by Sam. The first thing that I remember of his that set everybody talking and wondering who that boss yarn teller, Mark Twain, was that account about the great flood in the Mississippi, in early times, when the water was over everything, and Vicksburg and Natchez were the only dry points between Cairo and the gulf. At Orleans the boats landed alongside of the top story of the St. Charles Hotel."

The thirty Swedes brought from Chicago to take the place of the striking negro rosters on the Belle of the Bends jumped the boat at Greenville, Miss., when it arrived and refused to make the return trip. They would

WHY APPENDICITIS?

Why is appendicitis so common today? Because we have got into the pernicious habit of eating too fast.

Dr. Curtis, the great authority on this disease, says: "Appendicitis often follows the eating of a very hasty, or particularly large or indigestible meal."

After carelessly following a foolish custom, you can insure your safety by taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

It is an accepted scientific truth, which admits of no dispute, that if you will only keep your digestive apparatus in good order, you will never suffer from this dread disease, which at best, means a weakening operation, with long weeks wasted in bed, and big doctor's and surgeon's bills to pay as souvenirs.

Keep your appendix in health by the proper use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, whenever you have laid yourself open to danger by overeating, and upon the least sign of stomach or intestinal trouble, for otherwise, at any time, this dangerous disease may lay you low.

The curative influence of this great medicine is quickly shown in the gentle, soothing effect it has on all inflamed conditions of any part of the digestive tract.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets tone all these parts up to a proper condition of perfect health, and regulate their functions into a proper working state.

They also make away with all the causes of irritation, inflammation or indigestion, by helping to dissolve, digest and assimilate, or put to proper use, all the food which is lying around in odd corners of your digestive apparatus, fermenting, rotting and curdling, like so much garbage in a dirty sink.

In these natural and perfectly simple ways, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets restore all sufferers, from any form of dyspeptic trouble, to health.

They are safe and reliable. They never fail to relieve and cure, quickly and permanently.

Use them, and you need never worry about your appendix verminiformis.

give no reason for leaving. Officers tried to find another crew, but were unsuccessful. The boat left for Vicksburg without taking on any freight.

The Wabash is low and falling. Only 13 inches at Mt. Carmel.

The river is today lower than it has been this year, being three-tenths on the gauge, and still falling. The weather is clear and warmer, and there is not the remotest prospect, apparently, of a rise.

CURES WINTER COUGH.

J. E. Gover, 101 N. Main St., Ottawa, Kan., writes: "Every fall it has been my wife's trouble to catch a severe cold, and therefore to cough all winter long. Whenever the cough troubles her, two or three doses stops the cough, and she is able to be up and well." 25c, 50c, $1.00.

With the words he straightened. His tendons strained against the fetters, and they fell from his wrists as he sent a look at the quaking loyalists of the house that chilled their blood.

"I know not what course others may take"—oh, the hissing scorn of that now triumphant voice—"but as for me—as for me—give me liberty or give me death!"

Anne heard what followed as in a dream. She heard the studied oratory of Richard Henry Lee, aided by the elegant gestures he practiced before the mirror. She heard Thomas Nelson, the richest man in Virginia, no longer shifting in his seat, now crying out that if British troops should be landed in the county of which he was lieutenant he would obey no forbidding, but call his militia and repel them at the water's edge.

"As for me, give me liberty or give me death!"

She saw standing on the committee appointed to carry out Henry's resolution to arm the colony—the greatest marvel of all—the very men who had cried out against it. Mr. Pendleton, Colonel Harrison, Colonel Blair.

At that moment a vast army began forming. From those walls in which later Benedict Arnold was to quarter his British marauders the message flew that day. One by one the battalions gathered, strong, but invisible. They were not called by drum or trumpet. They had no camp nor field nor garrison. But at a blow, in shop or in chamber the recruits silently answered the summons and stood ready.

It had been the hour and the man. The hour had started the initial impulse of the Revolution, and the man was Patrick Henry.

CHAPTER XII.

"SHUT the door!" the earl commanded.

Foy did so and returned to his seat across from the governor in the arras walled council chamber at the palace. He sent a snaky look at Armand, who sat at ease in egg-blue satin and lace, attired for the evening's rout. And the look was unavailing.

Lord Dunmore's face this night focused slow hate, and he sat hunched in his chair. "Has Conolly come from the ship yet, Foy?" he asked.

The other shook his head. "Hell's tooth!" raved the earl, leaping from his seat and striding up and down. "I'll show them! Tomorrow they shall whistle for their powder! There are the Indians still, and then the slaves. If I have to raise the plantations, I'll bring these sniveling rebels to their knees! Freedom, forsooth! 'Tis the king's hand rules, and my hand for the king's in the Virginia!"

He paused in front of Armand and beat the table with his fist. "And the slipperiest of them all you shall snare us, my fine marquis. 'Tis Patrick Henry! Haunch of a basted swine! A nice picture his tongue licks up for the clod! He is in Williamsburg tonight, and he shall not leave it till he sails for London and a gallows tree!" He strode off again in a rage, his face working like a Satan's.

At last he left off. "Give him his orders, Foy," he said quickly.

Foy leaned forward, chin in palm, and spoke.

"You will write a message now to Henry which I shall dictate. It will state that you are in receipt of news from France affecting the colonies and desire his immediate presence at a place which I shall name. You shall go thither to await Henry and detain him there till my own arrival with an armed life. Do I make myself clear?"

The young foreigner waved his embroidered arm lightly. "I beg to remind his excellency of our bargain."

The governor faced around with something like a snarl and sat down heavily.

"I was to write certain letters to De Vergennes, King Louis' minister, and to Beaumarchais—letters in the hand of the Marquis de la Trouerie, signed with his signature and seal." These have been written. They have said of the situation in this colony only what you would have them say, have they not? And you have sent them. Is it not so?"

The earl narrowed his eyes. "I have done your excellency's bidding. You are not satisfied. Very good, monsieur. We turn the page then."

"Ho!" said Foy. "Tis not as difficult for a nobleman to get money, eh, Master Clerk? What fine colonial bird have you plucked now? I faith, a nice swagger of a sudden! Marry! Art going to wed with a plantation then?"

Lord Dunmore snorted and threw himself forward in his chair.

"Nay!" he shouted. "The bargain ends not here, my lily livered poacher! Letters, haith, when there is open rebellion? Small need I have for pen work now! 'Tis neck twisting I am for, and you shall aid me with a bait for that stubborn rump Henry!"

Foy drew forward pen and paper.

"Will you write?" he asked.

"No," said Armand composedly.

His lordship's face, from livid, turned a volcanic purple.

"Your excellency," went on the young man, "will recall my social position. Spy? Betray? Surely not, messieurs!" He moved his hand as though dismissing an indiscreet plebeian.

The earl bit off an oath with head thrust forward. His jaw dropped like a lion lapping blood.

Armand had risen. "I shall see you tonight amid the ladies, monsieur?" he asked of Foy. "A very good night to your excellency."

"I shall be eager to carry out any plans your excellency may be pleased to favor," said Foy as the door closed.

The Apollo room that evening was a blaze of splendor. It was the last dance of the old regime. All knew the nearness of the cloud. All heard the rumble of the storm. But courtesy in Virginia was as the grain in wood. There it was not until the last that Tories had perforce to leave the colony when all who were not Tories turned Democrats and went into the Revolutionary armies; when gentlemen took the field and their ladies toiled at home with lint or homespun.

Now, though the bolt was speeding, still it fell Foy and Whig met and danced in tavern and in hall. Smile and bow changed not a whit. Sparkle was over all.

But it was only a shell of gaiety. The core was a volcano.

In the outer hall of the Raleigh, behind the shifting throng of gallants at the door of the Apollo room, Jarrat looked across a minut and in glimpses caught between the stately moving figures he saw Anne.

Never had she seemed so beautiful, her head golden misted in the light, her long, fringing lashes shading the dusky blue of her eyes. She stood, full veiled, exultant, under the white candles, her dress dove colored, flowered in large trees, with cherry tinted stays trimmed in blue and silver. On her hair, drawn high, sat a weblike capuchin.

Jarrat's face sprang scarlet—a hopeless, helpless rage of bitter longing. With him it was moth and flame, and the wing singing had become a joy of torture.

The Marquis de la Trouerie passed in to the assembly. Gallants crowded to greet him. Brooke fawned upon his hand. He became a sun with a train of lesser satellites. He moved leisurely through the throng, answering the shafts of the wits, bowing to plump Mrs. Byrd among the dowagers, approaching the end of the room, where Anne, beside Colonel Tillotson's soldierly black, held her constant court, gilded by the effulgence which the open worship of the favorite of fashion had thrown upon her.

STATE BARBERS

DESIRE A REPEAL OF THE LICENSE LAW.

The barbers of Kentucky, led by the Louisville barbers, are preparing to have the barbers license law of Kentucky repealed.

The arrest of several Louisville barbers for failing to pay license has aroused comment, and quite a number are talking in favor of instituting legislation toward the repeal of the law. They claim that it is unjust, in that all barbers are not required to obtain licenses, and that the sanitary clause is not enforced.

Paducah barbers have about all paid the license and are satisfied.

FOOTBALL GAME A FIZZLE.

The football game here Saturday afternoon at league park between the Mayfield school team and the Paducah High School, ended rather abruptly. The first half resulted in a score of 12 to 0 in favor of Mayfield. They brought a lot of men up to play a team of boys, and not standing any chance the Paducah team strengthened with some larger boys for the second half. Mayfield then refused to play.

A HEAVY FROST.

There was a heavy frost yesterday morning, and it is reported to have done great damage in this section. There had been light frost before but the one of yesterday was a "killing" frost, and its effect was visible on much green stuff when the sun came out and wilted it.

While the Spanish minister of agriculture and commerce was being welcomed in the streets of Barcelona a dynamite bomb was exploded, with the evident intention of killing the minister. No one was hurt, however.

Use Shoffner's Sure Cure

The Great Tonic and Blood Purifier—Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Catarrh.

It is a trite and true saying that the "blood is the life." Now where does the blood come from? Everybody knows, or should know, that it comes from the nutritive elements extracted by the stomach from the food we eat. If the digestive organs do not perform their functions by reason of disease germs, there is no nutrition extracted, and the food might better be thrown in the dump to decay and breed germs in the open air than to remain in the stomach and become a rotten, putrid mass, as it naturally does if there is no digestion. No disease germ can live and find lodgment in a human body that uses the Shoffner's Sure Cure. Price $1.00.

What People Say of the Shoffner's Sure Cure.

PADUCAH, Ky., March 5, 1903.

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that I was a sufferer with indigestion for five years and could get no relief until I bought one bottle of Shoffner's Sure Cure, and it helped me so much that I took six bottles and it has cured me sound and well, thanks to the Shoffner's Sure Cure.

Mrs. JOHN SMEDLEY, 806 S. Third St.

This is to certify that I believe the Shoffner's Sure Cure saved my life. I was not able to sit up in bed when I began taking the remedy. I had such a severe cough I thought I had consumption. Physicians had given me up to die. After taking one bottle I was able to sit up some. After using five bottles I was fully restored to health. I cannot say enough in favor of this wonderful remedy for indigestion.

Mrs. SUR GRAHAM, Moscow, Ky.

If after using one bottle according to directions you are not benefited, your money will be refunded.

Fulton, Ky., Oct. 24.—Mr. George W. Turney of Barwell and Miss Carrie Jackson of Clinton, who were visiting in Fulton, drove to Union City and were married at the Palace Hotel.

VICTIM OF LOCKJAW.
Williamstown, Ky., Oct. 24.—Ollie, the six-year-old daughter of Volney Stewart, of this city, trod upon a rusty nail. The wound healed and no more was thought of it until the child became sick and screamed with pain. A physician hastened to the child's bedside but lockjaw developed and killed her in a short time.

DEATH FROM A FALL.
Henderson, Ky., Oct. 24.—At a late hour John Whitledge, a farmer of this county, walked into the open cellar of W. S. Johnson's new drug store. He fell about ten feet on to the brick floor breaking his arm and back and receiving internal injuries from which he died a few hours later.

THEVES IN HIDING.
Owingsville, Ky., Oct. 24.—Authoritative reports indicate that the two men who held up Treasurer Chase at Pomeroy, Ohio, robbed him of $5,000, locked him in a vault and made their escape, are Kentuckians, and are believed to be hiding in a cave in the mountain fastness of Carter county.

The robbery occurred September 9. On September 7 two young mountaineers left their home near Eby, Carter county, and went up the river toward Pomeroy, Ohio, which is not very far from Carter county. On September 10 they returned from that direction, plentifully supplied with money. They treated everybody to whiskey and paid for it with bills of large denomination. A boat was found on Kinnicoick creek which had evidently been carried there and suspicion was at once aroused. The suspects learned that officers were after them and went to the mountains. Dogs attempted to ascend the mountain, where a big cave was located but found cayenne pepper strewn along the trail. The cave was formerly used by a gang of counterfeiters. The sheriff of Meigs county, Ohio, is closely pursuing the suspects. Every road leading out of the mountains is being watched to prevent the escape of the men across the West Virginia line.

DEATH AT FULTON.

SOLICITOR GIVEN FURTHER TIME

Board of Works Held a Called Meeting But Did Nothing.

Work On the Broadway Paving Is Progressing Very Nicely—Are Moving Wires.

OTHER MUNICIPAL MATTERS

The board of public works met in special session this morning at 10 o'clock at the city hall to take some action in regard to the storm water sewerage, but decided not to let the contract until the solicitor has made his report.

The controversy about letting the contract for the storm water sewers on Kentucky avenue is over who is to pay for it, the citizens or the city, and if the city, whether or not the city can take the cost out of the bond money.

It is also desired to know if storm water sewerage is part of the street reconstruction, whether the property owner must pay all or half of its cost.

Solicitor Puryear returned from Arkansas, but was not ready to render an opinion today, and was granted further time.

Manager A. L. Joynes, of the East Tennessee Telephone company, has returned from a week's vacation spent at the world's fair, and laughed at the recent publications that the city was talking about cutting down poles on Broadway.

"I suppose," he said today, "that the city didn't know that it has four or five fire alarm wires on our poles along Broadway there, and if they should cut down our poles it would certainly play smash with the city's fire alarm system."

"We are now taking down our wires, however, and the city can proceed to make some provision for its wires that are now on our poles, something it has not done yet."

It is not known where the city will run these wires, but it will likely be no trouble to find a place for them. It was amusing, however, for the city to be talking about the various companies not moving its wires when it still had its own on Broadway.

The work of improving Broadway from Fifth to Ninth street with the bitulithic compound, is progressing nicely and already the work of taking off the gravel on the north side of Broadway from Fifth to Sixth streets is about complete and the force has been working only since Saturday.

One side of the street is worked first and then the other, but after the digging is done and the street properly graded for the bitulithic compound, the work is performed much faster and only one block at the time is completed.

The Postal Telegraph company and other companies are today having wires moved off Broadway and the work will be pushed as rapidly as possible. It will likely be some days before it is all finished but it will be finished before the street reconstruction is finished.

Work on the extension of the steam heating pipes to the county court house is progressing nicely, and the company will complete the work the first week in November.

The work was delayed by the failure of the manufacturers to ship the pipe when ordered, but it is all here now and on the route taken by the company. The pipes will be run into the court house cutting across the yard from Sixth street just a few feet from the Washington street corner.

LARGE CROWDS.

FAIRBANKS AND BRYAN HAD BIG CROWDS IN OHIO TODAY.

Cincinnati, Oct. 24.—Senator Fairbanks and William Jennings Bryan made flying trips through Ohio today, and both made many speeches to large audiences.

An electric car slid down a steep hill at Newton, Mass., and crashed into another car that was stalled at the bottom of the hill, wrecking both cars and causing painful injuries to eight passengers.

President Fish and Vice-President Harahan state that the Illinois Central would be connected by rail with Indianapolis. The company which will build the road is distinct and separate from the Illinois Central.

Two Amalgamated Association men were shot to death in the streets of Youngstown, O., by two strike-breakers, who were threatened with violence after their arrest.

The Dear Little Things.

THE month of June
That's due quite soon
Will bring along commencement day.
And not the least
Of this great feast
Is she, the subject of this lay.
Though young and fair,
With sage an air,
The always sweet girl graduate
Will essay read
Some crying need
To preach in style elaborate.
She'll say, to boot,
The only root
Of evil is the thing called cash.
She'll tell us, too,
That China's blue
Because the powers o'er her clash;
Recite, besides,
How in the idea
Of March was Julius Caesar slain
And claim, will she,
That Italy
Across the Alps for aye has lain.
This girl in lawn
Will swear that dawn
The darkest hour of all precedes,
And on this day
The gallant world as true concedes.

She—No; my great desire is to elevate my salary.

The Jolly Farmer.

When the farmer espied a little boy industriously collecting apples from the topmost branches of his best tree he stole back to the farmhouse and took down a stuffed image of Pongo, his greatly mourned sheep dog, from the cupboard, and in a few minutes the stuffed dog had been placed at the foot of the tree.

The farmer then proceeded with the business of the farm, and the men wondered why every now and then he chuckled to himself.

An hour went by, and the farmer was once more at the foot of the tree.

"Hello, there," he cried. "What are you doing up my tree, eh?"

The boy was pale and quivering with fright, but he had not altogether lost his presence of mind.

"Please, sir," he shivered, "that great big dog down there"—pointing to the well preserved Pongo—"he chased me, he did, all over my meadow, and I had to climb this tree to get out of his way!"—Kansas City Independent.

Property Recovered.

A family in Florida lost their little boy and advertised for him in a daily paper. That afternoon an alligator crawled out of the swamp and died on the front doorstep. In his stomach was found a handful of red hair, some bone buttons, a pair of boot heels, a glass alley, a pair of check trousers and a paper collar. The advertisement did it. —Mobile Herald.

As Things Go.

A correspondent, who is a friend of the Vagrant's, writes from Russia and says that he found the following epitaph on a monument over a grave in St. Petersburg:

Here lies the body of Maurice Rypinsky. He was killed by the Japs and has been dead ever since.

The girl at the Races.
She bets, but loses not. Of course,
That's strange, but then, you see,
When she puts money on a horse
She borrows it from me.

SUSPECT CAUGHT

Negro Stopped a Young Lady on South Side.

The Man Arrested Says He Is the Wrong One.

Clarence Birtle, colored, who claims Montgomery, Ala., his home, is under arrest pending an investigation which is being made this afternoon.

This morning about 10 o'clock Venie Schoening, a young girl of the Tyler neighborhood, was coming from a creek with a bucket of water when a negro stepped out of the woods and confronted her. She attempted to get out of his way, but he always stepped aside and got in front of her again. The thoroughly frightened girl ran away screaming and Mrs. Metheny, who lives close by, heard the screams and came out to investigate. The negro ran when he saw the woman coming and disappeared.

The police were notified of the matter and Birtle, who answers in every way to the description of the negro who attempted to stop the girl, was arrested by Officer Jim Clark.

The negro was seen at the city jail and claimed he had come down Clark's river with logs and had to tie up on account of low water; that the two men he was with continued the trip to Paducah in a skiff and he walked. He said he came down the Benton road but did not try to stop any one, and did not see any one. He was very nervous and the police think they have the right man.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The Southern Railway has inaugurated a line of free reclining chair cars on the night trains between Lexington, Louisville and St. Louis through without change in each direction, in addition to the through sleepers and coaches heretofore operated.

These are brand new vestibuled cars with all the latest improvements, including smoking compartment, separate wash rooms for ladies and gentlemen, lighted by Pinesch gas. These reclining chair cars are sure to prove popular with the patrons of the road as they are very comfortable and at night the chairs can be turned back, and used instead of the Pullman sleeper without any extra charge. Any passenger holding a regular through ticket over the Southern Railway is entitled to ride in these cars.

Mr. Ed. Pettite, of Twelfth and Trimble streets, the druggist, went to St. Louis today at noon.
